Project-Based Learning Classes

Our Project-Based Learning Classes focus on interdisciplinary, hands-on projects designed to integrate science, math, reading, social studies, and the arts. Students will work on a variety of short- and medium-term projects throughout the semester, developing critical thinking and creativity. Projects and Project Schedules are posted on our website.

Sample Projects:

- Sustainable Gardening: Students explore biology, math, and environmental science by designing and planting a sustainable garden, while integrating writing and art through journaling and design.
- STEM Challenges: Hands-on challenges where students solve real-world problems using science, technology, and math. Projects may include building models or designing simple engineering solutions.
- Creative Storytelling & Documentary: Students research historical events or create stories and then produce either a performance or a documentary to share their findings. This project blends social studies, drama, and technology.

Homeschool Enrichment Academy

Our Homeschool Enrichment Academy offers both full-day and half-day enrollment options one to five days per week, allowing flexibility for families. The academy is rooted in personalized learning, ensuring that each student can work at their own pace, whether they are ahead or need extra support in key academic areas.

Curriculum Options:

Our curriculum includes project-based learning alongside a core curriculum in math, reading, language arts, social studies and science that emphasizes personalized, self-paced learning and instruction. This allows students to engage deeply with both academic subjects and hands-on, real-world projects while receiving tailored guidance to meet their individual learning needs. Students and parents have the option to select which projects align with their personalized learning plan and will participate throughout the semester.

In addition, we offer flexibility for families who prefer to use their own curriculum:

- Students with Their Own Curriculum: Families can bring their own preferred educational materials, and we will help guide the students through their personalized learning plans. Our facilitators will provide support, and we can integrate project-based activities that align with the student's own curriculum to ensure a balanced and enriching experience.

Language, Life Skills, & Arts Integration:

Our curriculum also incorporates creative arts, performance arts, language and life skills allowing students to express themselves while enhancing holistic learning.

Fridays

Fridays will alternate between field trips and fun Friday activities.

- Field Trips: Field trips to local educational or cultural destinations (e.g., science museums, botanical gardens, historical landmarks). These trips will enhance the project-based learning curriculum and allow students to explore subjects hands-on.
 - Fun Friday Activities: Fun Friday events include activities like creative arts workshops, outdoor sports, themed days, project showcases and more where students can share what they've learned in an enjoyable setting.
